The best man for Mayor is the man for all the people, Hugh J. Addonizio. Let's work together for peace and progress. Vote A-1. Re-Elect Mayor Addonizio.

New $3.5 million Camden Street School

Until Mayor Addonizio took office not a single new school had been completed in 40 years. This was typical of the neglect which hurt our city. The Mayor kicked off a $100 million school construction program — the first such program in Newark's history — laying a firm foundation for the city's future.

WITH MAYOR ADDONIZIO LET'S WORK TO DON'T BE PULLED APART

Mayor Addonizio, himself the father of six children, helps some young visitors touring at City Hall as part of the open door policy for all citizens which he instituted and has strictly maintained during his service to our city.

Newark got the $150 million State College of Medicine and Dentistry and new management at City Hospital when Mayor Addonizio won a fight against suburban interests despite overwhelming odds. Under his guidance, the city is benefiting from a $265 million investment in colleges and universities which will serve 45,000 students and make us one of the leading college cities in the nation.

Senior Citizen housing on Sussex Avenue is part of the 2,000 units for the elderly Mayor Addonizio promised to get built. He kept the promise, as he did to create a Senior Citizens Commission and a broad program of Senior Citizen activities conducted through special centers across the city. The Mayor's mother, Lina, 85-years-old, has been a constant source of inspiration to the city's Senior Citizens.

TOGETHER

New street cleaning equipment is on the move as Mayor Addonizio, with the aid of his newly-installed IBM 360 computers, organized the first equipment-replacement program in the city's history. It's a big job, but it is being attacked, along with abandoned houses and cars, as never before. The Model Cities program is part of the drive which will produce cleaner streets and better neighborhoods.

Mayor Addonizio has built a $200 million urban renewal program which now ranks as the fifth largest in the nation. Typical of the more than 10,000 units completed are these low-rise, garden type units in University Gardens on Washington Street. In the area of public housing, Newark has built more units per capita than any other city in America — $165 million worth.

Across from Penn Station, the Gateway Plaza project instituted by Mayor Addonizio is underway—Now—that includes a 30-story office building, a 10-story motor hotel, shopping arcades and a three-level parking garage. Adjoining is Western Electric's new 18-story office building to initially house 3,000 employees. They spell business confidence in a city on the move and most importantly, jobs for people. The U.S. Labor Department reports the unemployment rate in Newark was cut in half last year to an all time low of 2.7 percent.

The crime-fighting Tactical Force, a network of neighborhood drug treatment centers, two additional courts, legal service for the poor and a fully-staffed, professionally paid Police Department for the first time in 20 years are the hallmarks of Mayor Addonizio's realistic fight against crime. They work too. The FBI reported a 12.6 percent decrease in crime in Newark last year.

PROGRESS

A MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR

I have served fourteen years in the Congress of the United States and eight years as Mayor. They have not been easy years for any of us, since we live in times of turmoil and change. ■ During these times, I am certain most of us have felt an occasional desire to lash out at all the things which seem to threaten or frustrate us. It is easy to get mad and to want to hurt, but while it is an emotion we can understand we must as mature human beings and decent Americans bring it under control. ■ Smashing a window is easier and may make a person feel better than cleaning it, but only for a moment. A broken window means shattered glass, danger, cuts, rain and in the end, far more cost. My major opponents in the present campaign are attempting to capitalize on the anger of all of us fed up with crime, spilled garbage, the bad manners of our neighbors and all the other things which seem to surround us. ■ These men — the window smashers — must not be permitted to lead our city or any city, for we are not talking about the luxury of one violent voice among nine men on a City Council. We are talking about one man — alone — to administer our future for the next four years. ■ Think about it. Read the short notes printed in this publication. They help separate fact from fiction and tell the story of a city on the move. Our city. A city we are guiding through troubled times to an extraordinary new life, not tomorrow but today — right now. ■ I ask your help in finishing the job we started together. I ask your help to maintain the efforts which have brought us the new peace and progress our city so rightfully deserves.
